

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

IN this book are indexed the contents of three hundred and sixty-nine volumes, comprising standard and popular collections of poetry, recitations (both prose and verse), orations, drills, dialogues, selections from dramas, etc., all in print at the time of compilation, and the majority to be found on the shelves of any good-sized public library. The list includes over thirty thousand titles.

The INDEX does not claim to list all recitations extant, but few popular ones will be sought in vain; and beyond this, the collections indexed include many books and selections useful to study clubs, teachers, and students of all ages. The scope of the book has thus reached out far beyond its original intention, and it is hoped that its value has been correspondingly increased thereby. It has been the endeavor to trace selections to their sources where means were available, and to indicate the correct title among several when possible.

An Appendix has been added, which will be of especial use to teachers and pupils. This Appendix gives lists of selections suitable for Arbor Day, Lincoln's Birthday, and other special days; also lists of drills, tableaux, etc., titles pertaining to noted personages, and temperance selections.

In spite of precautions, errors will doubtless be found, and exact information correcting them will be gratefully received, and will be utilized in future editions of the INDEX.

Acknowledgment is hereby made to all who, directly or indirectly, have been of assistance to the editor in the long and arduous but interesting task; particularly to Mr. P. W. Coussens, who made a first draught of what was later to be developed into the detailed work.

E. G.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The TITLE INDEX is the main index, and references in the FIRST LINE and AUTHOR INDEXES apply to this. A KEY to the SYMBOLS will be found on page 9, so arranged that the library numbers of the books can be inserted after the symbols.

In explanation of the arrangement of titles, it is only necessary to say that a title indented under the main title entry is either the same piece under a different title or an abridgment or selection from it, as indicated. The book is so cross-indexed that a piece can be found, if included at all, under any title known by the searcher, or by means of its first line or author.

Such titles as "Lullaby," "Song," "Sonnet," etc., are arranged by authors, the first line attached being merely to assist in identification, and not affecting the order of arrangement.

The FIRST LINE INDEX includes the first lines not only of the complete poem or recitation, but of the abridgments and selections also.
